THE COLLEGE OF LAW.—Like practically all other law schools, the College of Law opened in September with a larger attendance than during the past two years. The net enrollment thus far for 1919-20 is 62. There were no sessions from June, 1918, until January, 1919, when instruction was resumed with an attendance of 24 during the second semester. This year's entering class is larger than in any previous year and this is also true of the pre-legal group in the College of Arts and Sciences. Some students who are qualified to enter have postponed registration in the College of Law until the new law building is ready for occupancy.

There have been no changes in the personnel of the law faculty. Lack of sufficient University funds has prevented filling the place left vacant since June, 1917, by the resignation of Mr. Howard.

The general plans for the new law building have been settled. It is expected that construction will commence early in the spring of 1920 and that the building will be ready for occupancy in the winter of 1920-21. The plans call for a building 136 feet long, 52½ feet wide, and two stories and basement in height. Construction will be of reinforced concrete; the walls will be of brick with stone trimmings. The building will be located on the White tract which has been added to the University campus by a purchase
